Recognition to PACCLI

Greetings!

PACCLI recently celebrated 195 anniversary of Peruvian Independence. For that reason during the PACCLI's event "Un Brindis to Peru", Nassau County Executive Ed Mangano was present and PACCLI members (yes, you!) received a recognition That says "Whereas the members of the Peruvian American Chamber of Commerce Long Island have worked diligently on behalf of causes and ideals which uphold the principles of human decency and brotherhood, and through the years, they have demonstrated a selfless commitment to the community that warrants attention and gratitude, and The county Nassau is proud to extend this commendation to the Peruvian American Chamber of Commerce, as they are recognized for their invaluable service to the residents of Long Island."

With best wishes,
Nassau County Executive
Edward P. Mangano

2000 and Ruth Demetriou of The Best team really for food & beverage donations.

A brindis to Peru was a success, and we counted with the presence of the Counsel of Peru Eduardo Lopez and his wife Eugenia. We are very grateful that they took the time to come all over to Long Island

As a president of PACCLI, I can't be more proud. PACCLI is an organization that has 10 years. This can not be possible without the solid work on our previous presidents and directors that we will honor this year.

We are celebrating our person number 1000 on this electronic newsletter. Please encourage your friends, family and associates to received our monthly news. Forward them this newsletter and ask them to Subscribe to our newsletter by clicking here

VACATION AS A BUSINESS

Dr. Elsa-Sofia Morote

Statistically, taking more vacation results in greater success at work as well as lower stress and more happiness at work and home. PACCLI directors work all year around, and we are all volunteers. After careful consideration, we decided to have August and January as vacation months. That give us chance to recharge, and generate new ideas for the next months.

We will come back with new innovative ideas on September. I have a question for you. How long is your vacation? think for a minute.

Now read these statistics:

More than two weeks. High-income households also have the luxury of longer vacations.

More than a week. Most of those making $75,000 or more (62%) say they will vacation for more than a week, including 20% who will vacation for more than two weeks.

A week or less. By contrast, the majority of lower-income earners (58%) will spend only a week or less vacationing. And only 13% of this group will vacation for more than two weeks.

Did you ever think on people's vacation as your business? I will say there is a lot of potentials for Peruvian Americans to begin a business in that area.

Here is some ideas:

Medical Tourism - The practice of comfortably traveling abroad to have your medical procedure performed by highly qualified surgeons at some of the most advanced medical centers in the world...at a small fraction of the cost of care in the USA.

Retreats. Read the article 5 reasons why a retreat is a good business

<https://www.entrepreneur.com/article/231195>

Host visitors. Have a home in Peru or Florida or a destination place, and want to rent it for a short period? try <https://www.airbnb.com> - the Airbnb has open a window of opportunities for the micro entrepreneurs.

Travel Business. Not that complicated. You can begin one at home. Check this article How to Start a Travel Service

<https://www.entrepreneur.com/article/190464>

Lastly, if you own your own business there is ways that you can write off your own vacation

Enjoy people's vacation $$$!!

In the middle of the uncertainty caused by the decision in the UK to leave the European Union, job creation in the United States defied predictions and pulled out of the weak performance of the previous two months. In June, 287,000 new non agricultural jobs were created, while the unemployment rate climbed to 4.9 percent, from 4.7 percent in May, for the very good reason that more persons were looking for jobs. Average hourly earnings also increased in June, by 0.1 percent, for a yearly increase of 2.3 percent.

The services sector registered the strongest hiring, with 256,000 new jobs created in June. Still, job creation is decelerating, because the monthly average for this year's second quarter was 147,000, far less than the same monthly average of 229,000 in 2015.

It remains to be seen how the central bank will perceive the labor market rebound, which will be announced at the conclusion of the next meeting on July 27. The weak job creation of the previous quarter, according to the minutes of the June meeting, led the Open Market Committee to unanimously postpone an interest rate increase. Now that UK voters decided to leave the European Union, some uncertainty remains in world markets, with investors still seeking refuge in the US dollar, which slows down US exports and restrains inflation.
